Third-Party Material

To ensure that the proceedings can be successfully and punctually published by Springer Nature, please read carefully and strictly follow the copyright requirements regarding the use of Third-Party Material in your manuscript. This is a legal requirement prior to publication; failure to comply may result in delays or even rejection of the manuscript.

Springer Nature Third-Party Material Policy Overview: Third-Party Permissions

Please be sure to read the “Guide to Obtaining Permissions” section to understand the scope of rights required.

Standard permission templates:

Research-Permission-Template-EN – for obtaining copyright permissions for previously published materials.

Research-Release-Template-EN – for obtaining consent for personal images, interviews, etc.

Core Requirement: Choose ONE Based on Your Manuscript

Please review your manuscript carefully and follow Case A or Case B as applicable:

【Case A】 Your manuscript is fully original

If you confirm that all content in your paper—text, data, tables, figures, photos, etc.—is entirely original and does not reproduce or adapt any previously published or copyrighted third-party material, please:

1. Download and complete the attached “Commitment Form” (Attachment 1).
2. Sign it in the “Signature” field (you may print and sign, then scan, or insert a handwritten electronic signature in the PDF).
3. Send the signed PDF to me.

【Case B】 Your manuscript contains third-party material

If your manuscript includes any non-original content, including but not limited to:

1. Figures, tables, photos, data, or long text passages copied from books, articles, websites, etc.; interview transcripts, questionnaires, social media content, song lyrics, poetry, etc.
2. Images involving identifiable individuals, brand logos, or specific buildings.

You must obtain formal written permission to reuse these materials. Follow the steps below:

Step 1: Identify the material type and obtain permission

1. For previously published academic content (e.g., figures/tables):

You generally need to contact the original publisher or obtain permission through a rights-clearing service (e.g., copyright.com).

Please also complete Attachment 2: Research-Permission-Template-EN.

2. For content involving individuals (e.g., interviews, proprietary photos):

You must use Attachment 3: Research-Release-Template-EN and have it signed by the interviewee or the person photographed.

Step 2: Use and submission

You may use the provided templates to request permission. If the rights holder provides their own form, please ensure it grants all rights required by Springer Nature (see the “Guide to Obtaining Permissions”).

Please send all obtained permission documents to me for archiving. The publisher reserves the right to request verification.

Required Submission Checklist

Please send the following materials together:

Mandatory:

Signed Contributor Agreement (Attachment 4)

Submit one of the following:

Case A: Signed Commitment Form (Attachment 1), or

Case B: All obtained third-party permission documents.

Important Reminders

Start early: Obtaining third-party permissions can be time-consuming; please begin immediately to avoid delays in publication.

Scope of rights: Permissions must cover worldwide, non-exclusive, electronic and print publication, and must match the rights you grant to the publisher.

Signature in the file: All Signature locations in the 4 attachments require the author's handwritten signature (which can be printed, scanned, or inserted as a handwritten electronic signature in the PDF).

Thank you for your understanding and cooperation. Adhering to academic publishing standards is our shared responsibility and ensures that your research can be disseminated smoothly and legally.
